A Big Load of Wood.

Boston Advertiser.

The Rev. Dr. Wellington was the old Templeton minister from early in the eighteen hundreds and Col. Leonard Stone was one of his parishioners. It was the custom to supplement the minister's moderate salary with presents from the products of the farms, and especially with wood. Now Col. Leonard, one day in January, 1822, was drawing to the parsonage some of his nice hardwood. It was a good ox-load—two cord or so. As he was going across, the common with it his brother, Col. Ephraim, caught sight of him from the store, and was surprised at such a great load.

"Hello!" says he "why don't you take your minister a load of wood while you're about it?"

"Now, look here," says Col. Leonard, "I've been sawing out lumber down't the mill, and there's any quantity of slabs. I'll give the minister a big load as you can take!"

Col. Ephraim was a man for fun. He instigated the townspeople to take hold with him and accepted his brother's challenge. First, they made the sled. Long trees were cut for the runners. These were made thirty-odd feet long and set eight feet apart. The body of the sled projected two feet over the runner on each side. Thus the sled would hold twelve regular cords at one layer. There were two tongues, one in front of each runner. On the appointed day the men and the oxen from all over town came to the meeting place.

The sled was taken to the saw-mill and backed up against the great pile. On went the slabs with a will. Col. Leonard stood by, laughing, cheering, urging them along. When they had on as much as they thought would do, they hitched up the team. One hundred and sixty oxen, four abreast, found it easy enough to pull. They had to go around through Baldwinville, because there was not room at the Otter river bridge for the sled to turn it. When they had got onto the level ground above Baldwinville, they stopped and unhitched. Then with their every-day sleds they went back to the mill to bring more slabs and pile them on the big load. This they kept up till there were no more slabs. Forty cords lay piled up on that sled. And the evening and the morning were the first day.

The next morning came the rest of the journey "up in town." The school children were let out to see the great sight go by. One of them, to whose home it was going, says it looked as big as a house. It lay unloaded for a while out by the parsonage, and people came from near and from far to see. It kept Mr. Wellington in slabs for years to come.

When the great sled was taken to pieces, some of the timbers were used in building Mr. Winch's barn, and may be seen there in the framework until this day.

A writer in the Louisville Courier-Journal gives some of the current superstitions of Kentucky negroes. If a person passes through a funeral procession he will die before the oldest one in it. If a dog lies on its back and howls it presages an early death in the family. If the longest snake killed in a day's search be suspended from the tree nearest to a parched field it will bring rain. If it be necessary to turn back after starting on an errand, the consequent bad luck may be averted by making a cross in the path with the left forefinger. A stutterer may be cured by creeping up behind his unawares and knocking him down with a raw beef tongue just taken from the beast by an unmarried butcher under twenty-one. A bloody knife, a bottle of alcohol, and a bag of live lizards are an effective outfit for bewitching an enemy; but the intended victim is of warned of the danger by an owl's screech close to his cabin. The recipient of a poisonous snake's bite drinks a pint of whisky, and then, if sober enough, kills the first black chicken with tail feathers he can find, picks the feathers out, and burns them.

Hope Ahead.

From the Wall Street Daily News.

A committee of stockholders who waited upon the superintendent of a California mine to ask why in blazes the said mine hadn't panned out anything but assessments, were graciously received, invited to be seated, and the official explained:

"Gentlemen, you are all aware of the fact that we had scarcely begun work when the mouth of our mine was blocked by a land slide. That put us back a month."

They nodded their remembrance.

"Then we had just got in shape to take out four thousands tons of ore, worth $2,000 per ton, when the mine caved in. You recall it?"

They did.

"Once more we bent ourselves to the burden of reaping $500 for every $40 invested, when the mine was flooded by a subterranean river."

That was true also.

"Then we just got the water out when we discovered that our mine was located on another man's claim. We had him shot to prevent trouble, and once more we were about to declare a dividend of 200 per cent. when the dead man's friends put in an appearance. There were three of them. We chased one over the range, had another hung by the vigilance committee, and I am happy to inform you that I have four men out after the other, and am every hour expecting to hear that he has tumbled off a cliff. Gentlemen, there is hope ahead—golden hope. Please come up and drink with me; after which there will be another assessment of 10 per cent."

The London Truth says that the famous Russian General Skobelev has had in his life to tell diplomatic falsehoods, but they stuck in his throat and nearly choked him. On one great occasion he boldly told a lie—or rather a bundle of lies. His mendacity was to veil the scheme of a campaign on which tremendous issues depended. When the person whom he was deceiving rose to quit him he insisted on seeing him to his carriage. On his way out the General stopped short and said: "You look very honest, and you are a person of breeding. If you suspected the importance of some questions you have been asking, you would have cut your hand off rather than put them." He then recapitulated them, and added: "All my answers on these points were lies. I can't bear the feeling of lying to you. You may guess the truth from this. I place my secret at your mercy, and am sure you will not give me cause to regret doing so."

Long after the Reformation, Protestant indulgences were granted in England. On the fly leaf of the first volume of the register of Plympton is written: "Whereas I certainly know that the wife of Edmund Parker of Bovington, in parish of Plympton, is under such a distemper of bodie that she is not fitt to eat any salt flesh or fish whatever, therefore I think fitt, as minister of said parish, to license her to eat flesh during the time of her sickness according to the lawes and statutes of the realme in that behalf. Given under my hand March 4, 1600. Simon, D. C." Another entry, dated two years later, and signed by another clergyman, gives a similar indulgence to John Slanning.

Cures for snake bites are constantly being discovered, investigated, and proved to be worthless. The latest—the invention of a Brazilian—was introduced the other day to the notice of the French Academy of Science. It consists in ejecting permanganate of potash (the basa of Condy's Fluid) under the skin, at the bite, and also wherever swellings appear. The solution to be used has a strength of one part of the salt to a hundred parts of water, and is injected with a Pravaz syringe. A committee of six has been named to carry on experiments, and as it includes M. Pasteur and M. Quatrefages, we shall probably soon know what the value of the alleged discovery is.

ACCORDING to the opinion of the Attorney-General there is no real difficulty in the way of the reorganization of national banks whose charters are about expiring. After going into liquidation the stockholders of these banks can organize anew under the same title as the expiring associations, if the comptroller of the currency approves their names. This opinion practically continues the character of all national banks desiring to do business in accordance with existing laws, and will necessitate further legislation by those opposed to their continuance before their abolition can be legally claimed.

ENGINEER'S REPORT

Of the Columbus & Maysville Railroad.

TO HON. C. S. BELL, PRESIDENT COLUMBUS & MAYSVILLE RAILROAD COMPANY:

In order to have a correct opinion of a new railroad property, it is necessary to understand the character of the road, the resources of the country through which it passes, its connecting roads, together with its probable local and through business.

It is proposed to make of the Columbus & Maysville Railroad a first class, standard gauge road, thoroughly equipped, and with an average ruling grade of thirty-five feet to the mile, a much lower grade than any competing road enabling it to transport its freight at minimum cost. Proposition to construct the road comes from the Ohio Construction Company, composed of some of the wealthiest capitalists and most prominent railroad men in Ohio, whose character and standing is such as to inspire the utmost confidence; besides, their experience in the last few years in railroad enterprises has demonstrated the wonderful success of their manner of building roads, for they were the leading spirits in the building of the Columbus & Hocking Valley, Columbus & Toledo and the Ohio & West Virginia railroads, all of which roads, being built upon the same plan as this road is proposed to be built, are financial successes and were honestly and economically constructed, and are to-day the most profitable railroads in Ohio and almost the only ones owned by the original stockholders, whose stocks are divideden paying.

DESCRIPTION OF ROUTE.

The Columbus & Maysville Railroad Company, incorporated under the laws of Ohio and with a special charter from the State of Kentucky, with valuable franchises and privileges, is now constructing its line of railroad from Columbus, Ohio, through the towns of Grove City, Franklin county; Harrisburg, Pickaway county; Mt. Sterling, Madison county; Jeffersonville and Milledgeville, Fayette county; Sabina, Centerville and New Vienna, Clinton county; Hillsboro, New Market, Taylorsville, and Mowrytown, Highland county; Sardinia, Russellville and Aberdeen, Brown county to the city of Maysville, Mason county, Kentucky. Its course is in a direct southwesterly direction from Columbus to the only gateway on the Ohio River (between Cincinnati and Ashland, a distance 146 miles) to the fertile plains of the Great South, and is the most direct road that can ever be built between the railway system of the North and those of the South, being the connecting link in the great highway laid out by nature between the Northern Lakes and the Gulf, the Northwest and the South Atlantic seaboard.

LOCAL RESOURCES.

Locally, this road passes, in Ohio, through a region of country which, from Portsmouth to Cincinnati, a distance of 113 miles along the Ohio River, has no direct outlet north and east, an average belt of the country of 80 miles in width, bounded on the east by the 100 miles of the Scioto Valley Railway, on the west by the 120 miles of the Little Miami Railroad—a triangular tract of country, through the center of which this road is being built. Carefully compiled statistics of the agricultural productions of the last year of that portion of this territory within twenty miles of this road, and which is the most valuable of the triangular area referred to, comprising 1,645,364 acres, shows a section of Ohio which, for equal area, cannot be surpassed in this or any other State, covered with magnificent timber, productive farms fine houses, and inhabited by a wealthy, intelligent people; yet with its immense resources but partially developed for want of adequate, quick and cheap transportation to markets.

In addition to this table, the following statistics of two other Ohio river counties (Adams and Clermont) are given, although neither of them are directly on the line of the road; yet it will be for them the shortest and most direct route on all their products destined to an Eastern market, which are as follows: Wheat, 389,435 bushels; corn, 1,751,506 bushels; potatoes, 543,000 bushels; apples, 416,681 bushels; wool, 73,445 pounds; butter, 891,679 pounds; tobacco, 3,452,623 pounds; live stock, 111,105 head; hay, 20,918 tons; sorghum, 37,298 gallons; land 536,713 acres, and a valuation on the duplicate of $20,353,725, with a population of 60,717.

Referring to the statistics, it will be seen that the aggregate grain product is 18,562,031 bushels; that horses, cattle, hogs, etc., amount to 746,835 head; tobacco, 7,937,953 pounds; potatoes, 1,240,149 bushels; butter, 3,689,952 pounds; apples, 883,155 bushels; wool, 771,567 pounds; hay, 99,284 tons; land, 2,182,077 acres; together with a valuation on the tax duplicate (not including the city of Columbus) of $111,133,960, and with a population of 278,011. Comparing these counties to others in Ohio, we find that, in wheat production, Pickaway, Highland and Fayette are well up to the front; that in hogs, Highland and Fayette rank first and second; that Madison, Fayette and Clinton rank fourth, fifth and sixth in corn production, that Clermont has the largest potato crop, and that Brown and Clermont are first and second among the tobacco producing counties, furnishing over one-fourth of the tobacco grown in Ohio. These facts will give some idea of the products of this area of country, reaching out from the Ohio River, at Maysville, northward one hundred miles, and eastward and westward for forty miles, which has no direct outlet for its grain live stock, etc., seeking an Eastern market or for its commercial wants, have only this road to look to for a direct outlet for the accommodation of their trade.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS.

Of the products referred to, there is available for exportation—of grain, 24,000 cars; live stock, 12,000 cars; other products, 8,000 cars, or a total number of 44,000 cars. These estimated items are not the only sources of traffic; coal, lime, building stone and lumber will each form a large element of the local business of the road. The coal transportation will be very large, for although this road is not a coal road of itself, yet it will have intimate connection with six roads leading, in a short distance, to the best of the Ohio coal fields, and will be enabled to deliver coal to the communities through which it passes at a great saving in distance, and from 25 to 30 cents cheaper than their present rates.

THE large sternwheel steamer Montana was blown over the dam at the head of the canal, at Louisville, on Sunday, and lies in a precarious condition, with every probability of breaking in two. The accident was caused by a blockade of coal barges at the entrance of the canal. The Montana is an eleven hundred ton boat and was on her way from Pittsburg to St. Louis with a large miscellaneous cargo.

Prehistoric Giant.

A few days ago, some boys digging in an earth mound a short distance above Manchester, Ohio, brought to light a human skeleton in a good state of preservation, that measured over nine feet in length. The head was of an enormous size, the jaw-bone fitting loosely over the head of a large man. To what race of the past these remains belong and from whence the race came or where they went must forever remain a mystery. The discovery of the bones has created a sensation and is attracting much interest.

Woman Arrested for Murder.

Yesterday afternoon about three o'clock, Marshal E. W. Fitzgerald, arrested on a boat at the mouth of Cabin Creek, Mrs. Elizabeth Leizure, a married woman, whose husband and two children were with her, on the charge of having shot and killed Moses Markins, at Ironton Ohio, on the fourth day of last July. At the examining trial on the charge Mrs. Leizure was held to appear at the higher court, but the grand jury failed to report an indictment. A subsequent one, however, found a true bill charging manslaughter, but in the meantime she had disappeared and all trace of her was lost until she was arrested here as stated. Mrs. Leizure when arrested admitted the killing, but claims that she was compelled to take Markins' life or suffer a fate similar to that of the young girls who were killed at Ashland not very long ago. Mrs. Leizure is about twenty-five years of age, and is not a bad-looking woman. Her youngest child is about six weeks old. She left for Ironton last night by the Fleetwood, in charge of deputy sheriff J. H. Pemberton, who came here to take her back.

Sales of Land.

PILES! PILES! PILES!

A Sure Cure Found at Last—No One Need Suffer!

A sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. William, (an Indian remedy,) called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of twenty-five or thirty years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electricities do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles, itching of the private parts, and nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. Williams' Pile Ointment: I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave me such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment.

For sale by George T. Wood or mailed on receipt of price, $1.

HENRY & CO., Sole Prop'rs, 62 Vesey Street, N. Y.

Dr. Frazier's Root Bitters.

Frazier's Root Bitters are not a dram-shop whisky beverage, but are strictly medicinal in every sense. They act strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular, make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity.

For dizziness, rush of blood to the head, tending to apoplexy, dyspepsia, fever and ague, dropsy, pimples and blotches, scrofulous humors and sores, tetters, ring worm, white swelling, erysipelas, sore eyes and for young men suffering from weakness or debility caused from imprudence, and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

Dr. Frazier: I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as I ever did. I consider your medicine one of the greatest blessings.

MRS. M. MARTIN, Cleveland, O.

Sold by George T. Wood at $1 per bottle.

HENRY & CO., Sole Prop'rs, 62 Vesey Street, N. Y.

Skin Diseases Cured

By DR. FRAZIER'S MAGIC OINTMENT. Cures as if by magic, pimples, black head or grubs, blotches and eruptions on the face, leaving the skin clear, healthy and beautiful. Also cures itch, barber's itch, salt rheum, tetters, ringworm, scald head, chapped hands, sore nipples, sore lips, old obstinate ulcers and sores, &c.

SKIN DISEASE.

F. Drake, Esq., Cleveland, O., suffered beyond all description from a skin disease which appeared on his hands, head and face, and nearly destroyed his eyes. The most careful doctoring failed to help him, and after all had failed he used Dr. Frazier's Magic Ointment and was cured by a few applications.

The first and positive cure for skin diseases ever discovered.

Sent by mail on receipt of price, fifty cents.

HENRY & CO., Sole Prop'rs, 62 Vesey Street, N. Y.

For blind, bleeding, itching or ulcerated piles, Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is a sure cure. Price $1, by mail. For sale by George T. Wood, druggist.

A Gilded Youth of New York.

Cincinnati Commercial.

I cannot refrain from giving you a picture of a society beau as he appeared in after-dinner costume to bid a young lady good-by before sailing for old England. He is tall and very slender, and his chestnut hair is parted in the middle. His white vest cut low, and his dress coat and trousers are of the freshest broadcloth. On the first finger of one large, shapely hand sparkle diamonds, sapphires, rubies, and cat's-eyes. On the other hand is a large red cat's-eye. His patent leather ties show embroidered silk hose. He enters the drawing room with his opera hat in his hand, a jeweled match box with his monogram upon it and his cane with a large topaz in its head. This latter he is careful to keep in his hand, if he is unattended by his valet, although it is usual for that functionary to await him in the hall, holding cloak and cane.

Prince Bismarck seems neither to have forgotten our forgiven the cartoon in Punch on the royal rescript. The number containing it was confiscated, and everybody had already forgotten all about the affair and the offence it had given to the Chancellor. The other day, however, at one of the Berlin police courts, the proprietors of all the cafes in Berlin where Punch is to be seen appeared in answer to a charge preferred by the public prosecutor of having exhibited in their establishment a certain lampoon calculated to bring the constituted authorities into contempt and derision. The prisoner were summarily convicted, and each of them sentenced to be deprived of the number of objectionable print, which is ordered to be destroyed. The natural result of this exhibition of irritability on the part of the Chancellor is that Punch is more in demand than ever.

It is strange for the physiognomist to contemplate in Prince Napoleon the features of the great hero of the race. Fate had destined him to live the life of an obscure domestic tyrant. He is separated from his gentle wife. He confines himself entirely to a small apartment of three or four rooms in the vast palace of the Palais Royal, and there he potters on, scolding the servants, criticising the republic, withdrawn from all society, and endeavoring to attune the mind of his eldest son to the everlasting theme of the glory of the race. "Our great misfortune," answers the boy, "is not that we have so few friends, but that we have no enemies." And the boy, fresh from his college studies, is in the right.

A license is required for marriage in Illinois. A young man's wedding day drew near, and the road to Galena, the nearest licensing place, was in such a condition that a horse could not be used on it. The distance was seventeen miles. After trying to hire somebody to make the journey on foot, and failing to find a pedestrian at the price he could afford to pay, he set out himself on the morning of the appointed day. It was a hard job, and he returned covered with mud, almost exhausted, and barefooted, his boots having been mired and abandoned, but he brought the license and the ceremony was performed in the evening.

Fortune does not change men; it unmasks them.

The force of ideas is never felt until they are voted down.

There are two ways of pleasing—to amuse and to interest.

The landscape, like a veil over beauty's breast, heightens the charm it half conceals.

Charity is obliged to cover a multitude of sins. Horse races on Sunday are given in its name, and liquor is sold at fairs by ladies, all for the sake of sweet charity.

Emperor William, of Germany, was but slightly injured by his fall, and took his usual drive on Sunday.

As the result of a little political difference Joshua Horner and Chas. W. Booze have withdrawn their names from the bonds of the postmaster of Baltimore. Too much Booze, perhaps.

Governor Long, of Massachusetts, who has thirty colonels on his personal staff, has appointed a fast day, to take place early in April. The mayor of Boston expects to get even with him by appointing a thanksgiving for the next day.

BATCHELDER'S Ventilated Egg Case.

Patented February 15, 1881.

Indispensable to Merchants Shippers
And Producers.

THE CHEAPEST AND THE BEST.

THE ONLY PRACTICAL CASE.

The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These Trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray filled ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candled, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case, without rehandling.

For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence this is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.

The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, adding, or breakage, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long in storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x14, weighs 20 pounds.

PRICES IN CHICAGO.

Shipper's No. 1, 30 doz. Case with Fillers complete 65 Cents.
Farmer's No. 1, 18 doz. Case with Fillers complete 55 Cents.
Cardboard Fillers for refilling 20 Cents.
15 per cent. discount on lots of 100 cases.
Batchelder's Egg Tester, 1 string 6 doz. at once, saves to buyers many times its cost each season. Price $3.00.

By special arrangements made by the manufacturers of this case most Railroads will receive them as fourth class freight.

The 18 dozen case made especially for Farmers' use, sent to any address by express, with out nailing, with full directions for setting up, on receipt of 50 cents. Every Farmer and consumer should have one of these cases, it will save its cost every month. Agents wanted in every county. Address,
